

Dear Hiring Manager,

I am writing to express my keen interest in the Analyst - Data Analytics position at American Express, as advertised. With a solid background in data analytics, machine learning, and business intelligence, along with a passion for leveraging insights to drive strategic decisions, I am excited about the opportunity to contribute to your team. I believe my skills and experience could be a good fit for your team.

I have a background in computer science and business administration, and I'm currently pursuing a master's degree in business administration. I've learned how to work with data and use tools like Python and SQL to understand it better. I've also worked on projects where I've used this knowledge to solve problems, like recommending skincare products based on people's skin type.

I'm interested in the role at American Express because I admire how the company uses data to fight financial crime. I think my skills could be valuable in helping the team come up with strategies to keep people's money safe.

I'm looking forward to the possibility of talking more about how I could contribute to your team. Thank you for considering my application.

Warm regards,

Vinit Mehra